Free Easter Dinner Tradition Continues

by Deb Price

Å free Easter Community Dinner hosted by the DuPlain Church of Christ has been a tradition in the Ovid-Elsie community over the years. Due to the Coronavirus, the free dinner will be offered, but in a different way. DuPlain Church representative Mandi Harden has teamed up with Country Kitchen owner Suzanne Grubaugh and her daughter Chara Johnson to make sure this Easter tradition continues.

On April 12th, Easter Sunday, a FREE dinner will be made available for take-out from Country Kitchen in Ovid from 11am-2pm. The meal will include: Ham, Scalloped Potatoes, Baked Beans, Applesauce, Roll & Dessert. In order to guarantee enough food is prepared, organizers are asking everyone to PRE-ORDER starting Monday, April 6th thru Friday, April 10th by calling (989) 834-9640 from 8am to 11 am each day. When you call to pre-order you will be given a time to pick up your meal and it will be delivered to your vehicle.

The families gathering around the table this Easter will be smaller than usual due to the social distancing we are experiencing. Our community is blessed to have individuals like Mandi, Suzanne and Chara who have stepped up to brighten the day of our neighbors by making this free dinner available.

Governor Whitmer Signs Executive Order Suspending Face-to-Face Learning at K-12 Schools for Remainder of School Year

LANSING, Mich. — Governor Gretchen Whitmer last week signed Executive Order 2020-35, which orders all K-12 school buildings to close for the remainder of the school year — unless restrictions are lifted — and ensures continuing of learning by setting guidelines for remote learning. District facilities may be used by public school employees and contractors for the purposes of facilitating learning at a distance while also practicing social distancing.

"My number one priority right now is protecting Michigan families from the spread of COVID-19. For the sake of our students, their families, and the more than 100,000 teachers and staff in our state, I have made the difficult decision to close our school facilities for the remainder of the school year," Governor Whitmer said. "As a parent, I understand the challenge closing schools creates for parents and guardians across the state, which is why we are setting guidelines for schools to continue remote learning and ensuring parents have resources to continue their children's education from the safety of their homes. There is no video chat or homework packet that can replace the value of a highly trained, experienced teacher working with students in a classroom, but we must continue to provide equitable educational opportunities for students during this public health crisis."

The Michigan Association of Intermediate School Administrators and the Michigan Council of Charter School Authorizers are currently developing a Continuity of Learning Plan template application for schools to utilize in order to create their localized plan. The application will be made available by April 3. District plans will need to detail how districts will provide opportunities for students to learn remotely and how schools will manage and monitor their progress. It will also provide information on how parents and guardians can learn more about the local plan. Each district must have its plan approved by their regional intermediate school district before being implemented. Public school academies must have their plans approved by their authorizer. Districts can also partner with one another to create joint plans.

Every district's plan will be different and will reflect what's best and feasible for their community. A plan can include learning by any number of modes of instruction delivery, including a hybrid approach. However they are designed, districts must ensure their plans are appropriate, equitable and accessible for students and families.

If the plan relies on some online instruction, the district should ensure every student who needs it has access to an appropriate device with an ability to connect to the internet. Students and families will not be penalized if they are unable to participate in their alternate learning

School districts will have the flexibility to adopt a balanced calendar for the 2019-2020 school year and/or to begin the 2020-2021 school year before Labor Day without having to seek additional approval. Teachers and school employees will be paid for the remainder of the school year. Student teachers will still be able to get a temporary certification and current teachers will still be able to get their certifications renewed, even if they can't meet all the requirements due to COVID-19

Schools should continue to provide mental health care services for students, to the extent possible, and should be ready and willing to help efforts to establish disaster relief childcare centers. School districts will also continue to provide meals for families who need them.

All Michigan high school seniors will be given the opportunity to graduate this year so that they may make a successful postsecondary transition. Additionally, all standardized tests previously scheduled for the remainder of the school year, including the M-STEP and the SAT, will be canceled. There will be a date in October for rising high school seniors to take the SAT and for other high school students to take the PSAT.

Information around this outbreak is changing rapidly. The latest information is available at Michigan.gov/Coronavirus and CDC.gov/Coronavirus.

United Way Establishes Fund to Support Those Impacted in Shiawassee County

submitted by Jennifer McArdle

Amidst a state-wide "stay at home" order and the country continuing to grapple with the health and economic affects of the novel coronavirus, the United Way of Genesee County, serving Genesee and Shiawassee Counties, has created the Shiawassee County COVID-19 Response Fund to help support individuals, children and families.

'Through the Shiawassee County COVID-19 Response Fund, the United Way is working with partners to help ensure the community is supported and basic needs are met during this unprecedented time," said Jamie Gaskin, United Way CEO.

The Cook Family Foundation and the Meijer Foundation have both made contributions to the Fund to help meet critical needs and fill resource gaps. Dollars collected through the Fund at the United Way will be given to the Shiawassee Emergency Operations Center for distribution through a community-led process. No administrative fees will be taken from these desig-

"We forgo all administrative fees. In a crisis like this, it's important that we do whatever we can to help Shiawassee residents weather the storm. So that means every penny of every dollar donated to this is going to help with recovery," said

"We are impressed with the way our community--local officials, businesses, nonprofits, and volunteers--is coming together to support those most in need during this crisis. We appreciate the leadership of the United Way and are proud to do our part to support this effort," said Tom Cook, Cook Family Foundation Executive Director

Rep. Filler Announces Bipartisan Plan to Address Education as COVID-19 Outbreak Continues

submitted by Christina Guenthner

Rep. Graham Filler today announced the Legislature has reached a bipartisan agreement with the governor to put students on the best path to success as school buildings remain closed to protect Michigan families from the spread of COVID-

The agreement closes all public and private school buildings for the remainder of the 2019-20 school year unless they are later deemed safe. It also forgives 15 days of instruction beyond the nine snow days currently allowed under state law. School districts are required to use resources from days that have been waived to ensure all hourly and contracted employees are fully compensated.

"Closing school buildings for the rest of the year was a difficult decision – but the right one. The health and safety of our families must be our top priority, and there's no doubt this precaution will save lives," said Filler, of DeWitt. "This plan will ensure our students, teachers, and school employees are taken care of during this trying time.'

To allow for home-learning options, school districts are granted a waiver from the requirement for students to be physically present in buildings. Education plans should try to address the needs of all students, including special education students and children who lack access to technology.

School districts will be allowed to begin the 2020-2021 school year in August, prior to the Sept. 7 Labor Day holiday, to make up for unfortunate learning loss that has resulted from the time out of school this year.

Rep. Filler and his staff are working remotely, so they can continue to serve residents during the COVID-19 outbreak. People with questions or concerns can reach his office by calling (517) 373-1778 or emailing GrahamFiller@house.mi.gov.

Recycling on Hold for April submitted by Ellen Link

As it has almost everywhere else, COVID-19 has canceled the April recycling drive in Laingsburg. (The same is true for the MSU and East Lansing recycling drop-offs.) To get updates on our plans and for more information on recycling and waste reduction tips, please go to our Facebook page. The challenges we are all facing right now are unprecedented, so adapting to them must proceed one day at a time.

In the meantime, the GLR is pursuing a grant from EGLE to establish a permanent recycling site in Laingsburg. To that end, we need letters of support from local municipalities, institutions and organizations, and must come up with approximately $20,000 in matching funds. We encourage those who appreciate the importance of recycling and other methods of waste reduction and who use our recycling service to voice their support with their elected officials and other leaders. Our patrons come from two counties encompassing several cities and town-

If anyone would like to contribute to this cause and/or write a letter of support, please contact Terry Link (517-651-2005/ link@msu.edu) or Dave Draggoo (651-6846/ddraggoo1@gmail.com) as soon as possible. We presently have a grant deadline of April 28, though we are hoping the state will push that back under these extraordinary circumstances.

What to do in the meantime? It partly depends on how much storage space one has and how much waste one is willing to tolerate when the future remains unknown and planning is impossible. Landfills are no doubt getting much more fill than usual. The Greater Laingsburg Recyclers hope to resume recycling drives in May but there are no guarantees.

Editorial

I have been thinking about the current state of Ovid Township and the surrounding local government units all winter, and have decided (against the wishes of a few, certainly, but keeping in mind all the residents of our township as a whole) that I will not be running for a third term as Ovid Township Supervisor.

Supervisor's Viewpoint

by Greg Palen, Ovid Township

My eight years as Supervisor -- a time during which a new assessor was hired, a major transition in ambulance service occurred, building a new (and needed) OMESA fire hall was accomplished, township road maintenance was brought up to date, the township computer systems were aligned with the statewide BS&A system, and the debt on the township hall was paid off-- have been busy. I believe we have put our partner communities on the road to more cohesiveness and better communication, in which individuals can feel more comfortable in expressing their opinions, especially if those might be contrary to the easy consensus. At this point I feel that my goals in this position have been accomplished. As a believer in the concept of term limits, I have concluded it is time for me to get out of the way, in case someone else with passion for keeping government strong at the local levels might come forward. unresolved issues, for example, the Hollister Road/M21 intersection, new blood may be benefi-

While eight years in the Supervisor role have gone by quickly, and I am as interested as ever in the functions of township and county government, this assignment followed a dozen or more years at the head of the Village Of Ovid's Downtown Development Authority, by the end of which I realized how stale I had become in that role. Township government at this time is too important to have a Supervisor who drifts along on autopilot. Thus it is right for me to step down, when other sitting Township officials are planning to run again and thus some continuity will be maintained. (It is never good to have an entire Board change at once, as we experienced eight years ago.) No one should ever think they are indispensable in any government role, too often that means only one way forward is in sight.

Through this period my personal and business obligations have increased, and particularly in my association within a national agricultural consulting group, the demands on my time and the physical stress of the travel involved show no end in sight. Increasingly my business life and my public life has conflicted with each other. I have as yet found no one to be a successor in operation of our farm service business nor within the consulting group, whereas there is already at least one individual who has filed to run for township supervisor.

Should anyone else be interested, the filing deadline for ballot positions for township offices ends April 21st. Petitions are available through the township Clerk as well as the county

I remain in office until the end of the calendar year, and the election for township officers does not occur until November. As always, feel free to contact me with any questions or con-

Ouch, ouch, ouch....my right knee is a bit sore....agonizing would be a better description. I was out doing a few things in the yard, raked up some of the mess around the deck. This was when I realized that I had a young catalpa tree growing too close to the deck.

A Little Common Sense

by Crystal Mitchell

First I tried to use a spud fork to get at the roots. After that trial failed, I went back out to the shed and grabbed a shovel. I started piling the dirt on the edge of the tulips, after three good sized scoops I managed to get the roots out. I feel a tad bit guilty because I didn't transplant the

I also brought in a couple of the grow boxes so that I could get them filled. The peat and the seeding soil have been in the house warming up for a few days and the seeds are also ready to dive in. I have red, yellow, and orange sweet pepper seeds to be planted, and some late flat Dutch cabbage also to be embedded. If I could keep the outdoor cats out of the grow boxes I would try to raise some carrots......I'm thinking that a small wire mesh could solve that problem. I could use some zip strips to hold the wire mesh in place.

Speaking of gardening, I'm going to use a mixture of vinegar, Epsom salt and Dawn detergent to eliminate the hold that the quack grass has on my flower gardens. It will kill the grass growth within three or four days......it can also kill your other leafy plants. So I'm using a newspaper shield to protect my daffodils, tulips, Hosta and such. I also need to move some chives and lily of the valley plants. All you need for the mixture is one gallon white vinegar, two cups Epsom salt and one fourth cup of blue Dawn. Mix well so that the Epsom salt is dissolved, then pour it into your sprayer. Good luck, I will be ecstatic when I don't have to keep searching for the roots of the quack grass!!!

I'm up early Wednesday morning, must be all that fresh air yesterday must have cleared all of the cobwebs out. It probably worked like my spring airing of the house. My knee is a bit unhappy today but not what I had expected. Probably the organic lavender oil that I applied to it last night worked better than anticipated. I did notice that I should have applied some to my neck and shoulders to alleviate their distress. Ever notice how many muscles need their spring airing? The older that I get the more I notice.

Have you been getting phone calls about buying into Amazon, originally it would have cost me a measly $2,999.00 to get me started and they would match it. Now because of the Coronavirus this introductory price has been lowered to a mere $499.00 and that will be matched. The pitch yesterday was that with the economy going as it is, I would be wise to throw my money at them and see if it sticks. According to them I will be losing it anyway. Didn't seem to matter that I am conservative......according to the caller I would lose what I have anyway. After all few folks have their homes paid off or their vehicles or their credit cards......what an enigma. I didn't take the bait. Even with the added flattery of me not sounding my age didn't help the seller's pitch. His final shot was that stores will no longer be necessary, we can just stay at home and order online. No reason for us to leave our homes. Who does the deliveries and what if I don't like their choice of fresh produce? I do understand that many folks order their needs online but I do have a hard time wrapping my head around on line doctor's visits......can you imagine an online appointment with your gynecologist? Or urologist? Or an appointment for kidney dialysis? Just a thought.....

May your days be filled with the greening of your yards and the return of the seasonal birds even though the blighters have been having a heyday by white washing my deck and house. Good thing that I have a power washer to clean up their mess. May God bless you with good health and a happy life. Crystal Mitchell ©2020

Moolenaar Supports Relief for Michigan Residents

submitted by David Russell

Congressman John Moolenaar was in Washington D.C. to support the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (CARES) that was passed by the House of Representatives this afternoon. The legislation previously passed the U.S. Senate on Wednesday evening, 96-0. It now goes to President Trump for his signature.

Moolenaar outlined his support for the legislation in an email to his constituents on Friday before the vote, writing that the bill "will get supplies to the frontlines of the public health crisis, while providing Michigan families with the help they

The legislation has funding for health care providers and hospitals, as well as $16 billion for medical supplies including respirators, ventilators, gloves, masks, and gowns.

Additional funding also goes into research for more testing and vaccine development.

There's also relief for Michigan families. Residents will receive a $1,200 tax rebate for individuals and $2,400 for joint filers with the amount declining in phases for those making more than $75,000 and $150,000 respectively. There is also a $500 credit per child for working families. Only those who have a valid Social Security number are eligible for this relief.

For small business owners, the legislation creates the Paycheck Protection Program. It provides short-term loans to small business owners to cover salaries, group health care benefits, rent, utility bills, mortgage interest, and other debt obligations incurred before February 15, 2020.

Small businesses and 501(c)(3)s with fewer than 500 employees are eligible for the loans.

Additional information on the legislation is available on Moolenaar's Congressman website Moolenaar.House.Gov/Coronavirus. Along with more details on the bill, there is also a running list of federal and state resources available to constituents.

Geriatric Psychiatry Provides Support Through Aging

Many positive changes come with aging. Financial independence, freedom to pursue hobbies and more time to spend with loved ones are some such benefits.

But as men and women age, they also must give consideration to those changes few consider until they're happening. Retirement, loss of a spouse, distance from family, downsizing, and fears of illness must be given their due attention so aging adults can get the assistance they need when they need it. Geriatric psychiatrists can fill the gaps where others cannot.

The American Association for Geriatric Psychiatry defines the profession as a Doctor of Medicine or Doctor of Osteopathy with special training in the diagnosis and treatment of mental disorders that may occur in older adults. These disorders may include, but are not limited to, dementia, depression, anxiety, late life addiction disorders, and schizophrenia. Although geriatric psychiatrists can treat these and more, they also may help adults navigate emotional, physical and social needs that come with getting older.

The AAGP estimates that the rate of mental illness among older adults will double over the next 10 years from what it was in 2000. Many of the people treated will need assistance with symptoms of dementia. The organization Alzheimer's Disease International indicates there are more than 9.9 million new cases of dementia each year worldwide.

Geriatric psychiatrists can provide specialized care to this unique demographic. Geriatric psychiatrists often focus on prevention, evaluation, diagnosis, and treatment of mental and emotional disorders in the elderly, says the American Psychiatric Association, an advocate for improvement of psychiatric care for elderly patients. Geriatric psychiatrists understand how medication dosage and therapy treatments may need to be customized as one ages. These psychiatrics also can consult with experts in neurology and primary care physicians when there are symptoms across various fields, which may be the case when patients are experiencing memory impairment, anxiety and depression.

Geriatric psychiatrists suggest speaking with mental health professionals early on if symptoms of low mood, restlessness, insomnia, and other hallmarks of potential mental dysfunction are present in elderly patients. This way doctors can step in early and improve their quality of life.

Safe Senior Dating

For seniors, being alone can escalate feelings of isolation. As men and women age, their social circles may begin to shrink. The health resource Aging Care says 43 percent of seniors have a persistent sense of loneliness. For many, dating is helping them find renewed companionship, self-confidence and vigor. Despite the rush that one may feel when beginning a new relationship, it is important to put safety first. One of the key considerations is disease prevention. Statistics from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention show that, between 2000 and 2008, there was a 45 percent increase in reported sexually transmitted diseases in Americans over the age of 40. Online dating may make seniors vulnerable to STDs. Furthermore, many STDs go unrecognized and thusly untreated in the senior community because they're simply not expected. Education can help keep seniors safe. Doctors can inquire about sexual activity as they would with other age groups. Seniors themselves should always practice protected intimacy and get refresher courses on "safe sex" education.

Questions to Ask When Your Doctor Prescribes a New Medication

Though few people may want to take medicine each day, prescription drugs prolong lives and help people manage conditions that might otherwise make it difficult to live life to the

A 2017 survey from Consumer Reports found that 55 percent of people living in the United States take a prescription medicine. The survey also found that those who take prescription drugs use an average of four such medications. That figure might alarm some people, especially aging men and women whose bodies might be more susceptible to conditions that are often treated with medication.

There's no denying that prescription drugs can save lives. But men and women have a right to explore their options when doctors prescribe them medications, and asking the right questions when doctors suggest medication can help men and women decide if prescription medicine is their best option.

To help men and women make the best decisions regarding their healthcare, the National Institute on Aging advises people to ask their physicians these questions when being prescribed a new medicine.

- What is the name of the medicine, and why am I taking it?
- Which medical condition does this medicine treat?
- How many times a day should I take the medicine, and at what times should I take it?
- If the prescription instructions say the medicine must be taken "four times a day," does that mean four times in 24 hours or four times during the day-

- How much medicine should I take?
- · Should I take the medicine on its own or with food? Should I avoid certain foods and beverages when taking this medicine?
- · How long will it take this medicine to work?
- Will this medicine cause problems if I am taking other medicines?
- Can I safely operate a motor vehicle while taking this medication?
  - · What does "as needed" mean?
  - When should I stop taking the medicine?
  - What should I do if I forget to take my medicine.?
- Can I expect any side effects? What should I do if I have a problem?
  - Will I need a refill, and how do I arrange that?

When discussing medications with a physician, it's imperative that men and women be forthcoming about any other medicines they might be taking under the guidance of other doctors. In addition, men and women should tell their physicians about any over-the-counter medicines or vitamins and supplements they are taking. Sharing such information can vent potentially serious complications from arising.

Medicine saves lives every day. Smart patients can help medicine do its job by learning about their medications and discussing them openly and honestly with their physicians.

Social Security Benefits Will be Paid on Time

submitted by Vonda Vantil

Andrew Saul, Commissioner of Social Security, reminds the public that Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefit payments will continue to be paid on time during the COVID-19 pandemic. The agency also reminds everyone to be aware of scammers who try to take advantage of the pandemic to trick people into providing personal information or payment via retail gift cards, wire transfers, internet currency, or by mailing cash, to maintain Social Security benefit payments or receive economic impact payments from the Department of the Treasury.

"Social Security will pay monthly benefits on time and these payments will not be affected by the COVID-19 pandemic," Commissioner Saul said. "I want our beneficiaries to be aware that scammers may try to trick you into thinking the pandemic is stopping or somehow changing your Social Security payments, but that is not true. Don't be fooled."

The Department of the Treasury will soon provide information about economic impact payments under the recently enacted law, the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act, or CARES Act. Treasury, not Social Security, will be making direct payments to eligible people. Please do not call Social Security about these payments as the agency does not have information to share.

Schnelle Venison Chilli

If you are sitting at home wondering what to cook for dinner after weeks or "Sheltering in Place" please consider making some

The Weekly Sportsman

by Dan McMaster theweeklysportsman@meridianweekly.com

Schnelle Venison Chilli. If you don't have venison then use some ground beef. This recipe has a unique taste and flavor no matter what meat you choose to use. The recipe comes from Erik Schelle of Belding who serves as President of Michigan's QDMA State Chapter. The Weekly Sportsman sampled some of his chilli from a crockpot a few years ago at a Michigan Legislative Sportsmen's Caucus event and the recipe is definitely worth sharing with readers. You may need to play with some ingredient volumes and adjust to your liking.

11b ground browned venison

1 can Stag chili

1/2 - 1 cup cut up yellow or orange sweet peppers

1 large chopped onion

14.5 oz can of diced tomatoes

16 oz can of kidney beans rinsed and drained (or use a mix of 8 oz black beans and 8 oz kidney beans)

8 oz can of tomato sauce

2 - 3 Teaspoons chili powder (Add more to taste)

1/2 Teaspoon crushed dried basil

1/2 Teaspoon salt

1/2 - 1 Teaspoon cinnamon (try using more rather than less)

1/2 - 1 Teaspoon cocoa powder (Provides unique earthy flavor, also try using more rather than less)

1/4 Teaspoon dried pepper

Brown meat, onion and peppers together. Then add undrained tomatoes and rest of ingredients. If extra moisture is needed then add V8 or tomato juice. Cook on low heat for 8 - 10 hours or higher heat for 4 to 5 hours.

reach it's peak in the Midwest by mid-April, people at the grocery store looked at me as if I was from another planet. I wore protective gloves and a mask. I sprayed down my cart and used wipes where appropriate. Yes, I spent $500.00 but I feel as if my family's life and wellbeing are priority. We are all set with food, puzzles and games. Teachers in our district are sending grade-level challenges and we are homeschooling and bonding as a family. I don't mean to make another inquiry but...am I crazy to be scared? Is this an April Fools hoax? Freaked out family

Dear Freaked out family,

No this is not an April Fools' hoax. If it was, it would be a pretty sick joke. Stay home. Practice Safe distancing. If you must have an encounter with another person you do not know. Wash often, clean off items that have been shipped to your home with a disinfectant spray or use wipes on all other items. Follow your states recommendation.

When I opened by computer today, all headline articles were regarding the Coronavirus. To date, 25 states have not implemented statewide restrictions; However, the NHS announced a total of 360,000 people have died in France, Spain and the UK. In California people are in line for a block to go into the grocery stores, to find nothing on the shelves. The shelves are thinning out in the mid-west. 3.3 Million people signing up for unemployment benefits. Michigan's system can take weeks to apply for unemployment benefits due to computer glitches and overwhelming requests. Be patient. The UN Secretary-General stated the Coronavirus is the worst global crisis since WWII. So, if you think this is a Hoax - send me your theory with scientific proof.

According to the epidemiologists evaluating the trends, each country and each State's 'peak' will occur in different time frames. Every state has reported positive cases of the COVID 19. As of today, the only state that has not reported a death is Wyoming. Please follow US recommendations and warning from World Health Organization WHO, Center for Disease CDC, National Health Services NHS and most of your Governor. Local news will be more helpful to ease your worry with information that directly could affect you and your family as well as your community. Governors are making recommendations for their specific up-to-date needs What can we do? Follow the State safety regulations, pay our bills. If you are low on funds, make arrangements with your creditors, don't just stop paying. Life will get back to "normal" soon. Sooner we all comply to lock down, the sooner we will combat this evil enemy.

Andy's Advice: Better Safe than Sorry. Stay home - Eat, Pray, Love.

Charge up Your Car Battery Knowledge

Vehicles consist of many essential components to keep them running efficiently and effectively. Car and truck owners should have an understanding of how their vehicles function so they can diagnose and address problems as they arise.

Car batteries are an important component of any vehicle. Even though engines are the powerhouse of any car or truck, without a battery, the engine wouldn't be able to work. According to Firestone Complete Auto Care, car batteries work by providing a jolt of electricity necessary to power all the electrical components of the vehicle. This is achieved through a chemical reaction that changes chemical energy into the electrical energy needed to deliver voltage to the starter. In addition to initially starting the car, the battery also keeps electric current steady to keep the engine running.

The battery also works in conjunction with the alternator to power the electronics in the car, according to the automotive information blog Autosessive. While the car is running, the alternator reverses the current produced by the battery, recharging it as a result. This happens during long journeys, so people who drive for short bursts of time may find that their batteries will not have a chance to recharge and may not have the longevity desired.

There is quite literally a lot riding on a functioning battery. No one wants to be caught stranded by a dead battery, so drivers may wonder if there are any indicators that may signal the battery needs replacement.

- Slow turnover: If a vehicle does not immediately start or if the cranking is sluggish and takes longer to start, it may mean the battery is starting to fail.
- Frequent, short trips: Drivers who make frequent, short trips may find their car batteries do not have time to fully recharge. This, coupled with overtaxing thanks to a lot of accessory use, may cause the battery and the alternator to have shortened life spans.
- Low battery fluid levels: If the fluid level is below the energy conductor inside, it is often indicative of overcharging and excessive heat.

- Odors and leaks: Battery leaks can produce a sulfur odor similar to the smell of a rotten egg. This can become problematic over time, and leaks may indicate an aging or damaged battery.
- Age: Most batteries have a finite life span. A well-maintained battery can last up to five years. Neglect can reduce that life expectancy considerably.
- Bloated or cracked battery case: Replace the battery immediately if the case is cracking, as it could be because excessive heat is swelling the battery.

Understanding how car batteries work can help drivers keep their cars running smoothly.
